Column was 'Valueless'

Editor:

There was no value in the column, "A Lighter Side of Chanukah, as Seen From Three Sides" by Mark Miller (Dec 3. Jewish Times). It was not humor, but rather an attack on Reform Judaism. At a time when we need to strengthen our community and respect the diversity within it, this tasteless piece further promoted stereotypes and divisiveness.

By refusing to acknowledge Reform as an authentic expression of Judaism, Mr Miller... ignored the nation-affirming message of Chanukah
